Experience

From a young age, Dr. Jennifer Bowser saw the positive impact chiropractic care could have on a family, especially her own. Growing up, her father was in the military and was injured as a result of various special operations throughout his career. Dr. Bowser quickly realized how chiropractic treatments were one of the pivotal factors in helping her dad cope with the pain from his injuries.

Dr. Bowser's road to becoming a chiropractor was born out of her desire to help people. That's why her focus on patient-centered care makes her a perfect fit for Laser Spine Institute. Every day, she strives to ensure that each patient is treated in the way she would treat her own family.

This caring and compassionate nature extends far beyond the walls of Dr. Bowser's work life. She continually looks for creative ways to use her experience and skills to help those in need and has even gone on several medical mission trips throughout the years.
